Dedication

The Yearbook Club of 1958 wishes to dedicate this edition of the "Mac" to Mrs. Genevieve Taylor. A Syracuse University graduate, Mrs. Taylor has been our art instructor for five years. Through these years, she has not only taught, but has been an advisor for one section of the seventh grade. Furthermore, who helps with cafeteria decorations, assists with school posters, and loans out valuable art-room equipment—none other than Mrs. Taylor. We shall miss her patience, her graciousness, and her helping hand. But we are certain that she will be as much an asset to others as she has been to us.

Board of Education

Today in this age of Sputnik the schools are receiving much criticism because Russia seems to have the upper hand in an attempt to control outer space. It is only natural for a people to rationalize or try to put the blame for failure on something or someone else. The schools become the target of much of this criticism and blame. We have not produced enough mathematicians or scientists. We are falling short by emphasizing education in a broader sense and are spending too much time with music, art, athletics, and the so-called "frills" of education.

We had a similar situation back in the time of World War II when so many of our young men were found physically unfit for active military duty. The schools were said to be at fault because they did not have physical education programs that developed their bodies properly. No doubt at that time and at this, some legitimate fault can be found with the schools but they should not have to stand for all of the criticism.

The people of the United States have become more and more accustomed to take life easier. We have fewer hours of work per day and per week. We want more money for doing less. We think we need coffee breaks, vacation with pay, and higher unemployment pay if we are out of work. With these conditions at home can we expect our boys and girls to work in school and go home and do homework? They want to take life easier too and in a great many cases they do.

However, the schools, including the board of education and the teachers are willing and anxious that each boy and girl achieve up to his or her ability and it is true in America today as it has been in the past that the young people with the ideals, goals, and ambition, to get ahead will find the opportunity to succeed and develop into the mathematicians, scientists and leaders of tomorrow, who will be equal to or surpass any in the world. With life on such a competitive scale there always will be times when others will be ahead but you will find that boys and girls are better educated today than they ever have been before and the schools will continue to improve and meet the challenge of the times.

Senior Officers

The class of '58 has had a successful journey through high school. In their Junior year they skyrocketed to break all records on their magazine sales, and this year their Senior play, "Hillbilly Weddin'" was a smash. They chose the red and white rose as their class flower and "A man doesn't achieve wisdom, until he realizes that he is indispensable," as their motto. The goal of their struggle through high school finally was achieved when they went to Washington, D. C., and New York City over the Easter vacation.

makes ice cream to you you buy the truck comes to the farm. It takes the cans of milk away. It goes to the plant where ice cream is made. The milk is kept very cold to make ice cream. Cream, milk, sugar, eggs, fruit and other good foods are mixed together. Everything is kept cold. Machines freeze the ice cream. When it is ready it is put into packages. Then it is put in a very cold room until it is hard. This is now ready to be sold to stores.

Looks like Bev and Joan had a rough day! Never too tired to laugh, though.

Bev, Betty, and Sharon—either they're holding up the cannon or the cannon is holding up them.

Carole is helping Sharon but we don't know how well she is doing.

Make sure it works, Stub and Lester; who broke it?

Ray, Joe and Darrel look as if they're waiting patiently; maybe they're afraid they won't get out of the F.B.I. building.

Sharon wants to find out who just threw something.

What are you hiding, Carole?

... Band

The senior band provides for part of the musical entertainment of our school. For the last two years we have been invited to Cornell and hope to be invited again this year. We also go to the contest each spring and have received a rating of "A" for the last four years.

This year there are two new organizations in the band, the dance band and the pep band. The pep band played for a basketball game and the dance band played for one of the mixers. Both these bands are made up of the students from the senior band. Next year they plan to be more active than they have been this year.
